Student Comments:

- I was initially terrified coming into this class because of the sheer amount of tests, assignments, and readings in the syllabus, but found in the end that I actually preferred this method to one with fewer items on the to do list, and learned far more through it. Dr. Henin was accessible and helpful throughout the entire semester. He went above and beyond to make students feel comfortable, and was extremely fair in ensuring that all students had the same access to the same resources for exams and assignments. He was prepared for a crisis and was able to upload lecture videos very quickly after we all went to online learning. I was impressed with this course and learned a lot, and discovered a passion for international relations that I do not foresee going away any time soon. Thank you, Dr. Henin!

(Dear Concordia, please rehire this man. Please.)

- I liked this course a lot especially with you as a professor. I think the midterm was a bit hard but otherwise the overall course is very nice. I know many people complain about the readings but I think it helps with understanding of this course. However, some readings are a bit hard and heavy, it would be a good idea to discuss these sorts of readings in class.

- extremely well-organized and structured course

- The course was overall demanding and hard work (in terms of readings, assignments, quizzes and journals) was necessary in order to stay on top of everything, but the class was extremely interesting and I definitely feel like I've learned a lot since the beginning of January. Even after the declaration of the pandemic which brought the closure of the university, Professor Henin found very effective ways to switch up his methods of teaching and demonstrated that he cared for his students' academic success. I very much appreciated being in his class.

- I took this course in the second semester of my first year and your teaching methods and the overall vibe of your class were super enjoyable. I can't wait to take more courses with teachers like you through my university-student career.

- Overall great experience in class, very well organized only recommendation would be to drop 2 quizzes especially since the first quiz happens to be in the first week, i dont think its fair that students lose their only dropped quiz for circumstances that may have been out of their control (waiting list).

- Your knowledge and love for international politics are incredible. Thank you for intellectually pushing us in those dark times. You're a great teacher, Sir!
